NEWSLETTER OF THE NORTH JERSEY WOODWORKERS ASSOCIATION

February 2017

Visitor intro: We had 38 people in attendance.

Announcements:

CRAFTS of New Jersey will be having their annual tool auction April 8th in Oldwick NJ.

Fine Woodworking Live will be going on in Southbridge Massachusetts April 21-23rd.

The Woodworking show in Somerset was a big success. Our new workbench made its debut and was put to good use between demonstrations and displaying members projects.

Thanks to all the members that took the time to work our booth speaking to attendees, answering questions and sharing what we are all about.

Main Event:

Our main presentation was given by Yoav Liberman. Yoav is a furniture builder, designer and tool inventor. He spoke about how he uses architecture to inspire his designs and likes to incorporate discarded materials into his furniture. Many of his projects use complex joinery and hardware to allow the furniture to be knocked down or adjusted to the customers liking. He brought down many slides showing his design process and build steps for a few of his projects.

Many questions were asked which lead to further discussions and we very quickly ran out of time barely scratching the surface of what Yoav had to share with us. Attached with the Newsletter are a series of pictures Yoav forwarded with many of the slides he shared during the presentation.

Next Meeting: March 20th 2017
